NATION'S BEST

DUSTIN O'QUINN

Putting the professional accomplishments of Dustin O'Quinn into words is no small feat. In his integral role as a Lane Powell Shareholder, he leads the Immigration Team, mentors associates and provides counsel for a roster of prestigious clients in all aspects of immigration law.

Taken together with his presence as a hiring partner on Lane Powell's Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Committee, his 2019 Fellowship on the Leadership Council on Legal Diversity, and his community volunteer work, it's not hard to see what we mean. Dustin is someone who makes those around him want to do better and we are immensely grateful to have him on our team.

Join us in congratulating Dustin on his inclusion in the 2020 Lawyers of Color's Nation's Best!

LAWYERS OF COLOR INITIATIVES

Create a black law student judicial clerkship collaborative

Throughout the country there are judicial clerkship programs targeted at diverse law students; however, few clerkships go to black law graduates. We are going to create a collaborative that helps determine and scale the most effective methods and programs.

Provide qualified summer associate candidates to firms that have difficulty recruiting black law students.

We contacted nearly 100 law firms that had less than 1 percent black lawyers. Most did not respond, but of the three who responded, two explained they were IP firms and found it difficult to find black law students with STEM degrees. We are going to create a free black law student resume bank and pre-screening interview service law firms.

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.

Marla Butler

Thompson Hine LLP
Partner
Litigation

J.D., Florida State University
B.A., Cleveland State University

Marla represents clients in the medical, semiconductor, power, networking and other high-tech industries in high-stakes commercial litigations, arbitrations and trials. She helps clients proactively take on commercial threats, monetize their patent assets and/or defend against lawsuits that threaten their businesses. She conducts critical early case evaluations to help clients quickly assess risk, which helps them predict important outcomes and see a fuller range of strategic options.

Marla is a Fellow of the Litigation Counsel of America, an invitation-only trial lawyer honorary society composed of less than one-half of one percent of American lawyers who are selected based on effectiveness and accomplishment in litigation, both at the trial and appellate levels, and superior ethical reputation.

Marla was offered “One Child, One Lawyer Volunteer of the Year Award” by Atlanta Volunteer Lawyers Foundation (2007). She is also named a Litigation Star by Benchmark Litigation, 2020, 2021.

Marlén Cortez Morris

Barnes & Thornburg LLP
Partner
Litigation

J.D., University of Illinois College of Law
B.A., University of Tampa

Marlén Cortez Morris represents and advises clients on a wide range of franchise and distribution, labor and employment, and commercial litigation matters in courts and alternative dispute resolution venues and before government agencies across the country.

Marlén is committed to clients and her dedication to achieving client goals is manifest in her tireless work ethic. Marlén can and will serve as a formidable advocate when needed. However, she also takes pride in helping clients avoid or mitigate litigation and is valued for her balanced approach on striking the right outcome to meet her clients’ objectives in a timely and efficient manner.

Before joining Barnes & Thornburg, Marlén was a partner at Cheng Cohen LLC in Chicago, where she represented franchisors, licensors and distributors on a broad spectrum of commercial disputes involving trademarks, trade secrets, covenants not to compete and joint employment liability claims. She also regularly advised clients on labor and employment law compliance and best practices for navigating joint employment issues.

Maurice Bellan

Baker & McKenzie LLP
Partner
Litigation

J.D., University of Maryland
B.A., Howard University

Maurice A. Bellan is the Managing Partner of the Washington, DC office and a member of the Global Dispute Resolution and North America Litigation and Government Enforcement Steering Committees. Maurice was recently named by Savoy magazine as one of the most influential African-American lawyers in the United States.

Maurice regularly counsels clients in industries heavily regulated by US federal programs or engaged in any activity that is sponsored by the federal government. He leads the Firm’s False Claims Act and government contracts practice and his work routinely involves FCA compliance, investigations and litigation, bid proposal review and advice, suspension and debarment investigations and negotiations and defense against stark and anti-kickback allegations.

Maurice is a trial lawyer and has tried cases and argued appeals in several states, federal district and appellate courts across the United States including the US Tax Court and the US Court of Federal Claims. His litigation matters have involved trade secrets, securities transactions, breach of contracts and constitutional questions involving a variety of federal statutory regulations.

Representation matters.

We congratulate the outstanding attorneys and advocates for diversity that make up the Lawyers of Color's 2020 Nation's Best list.

We are especially proud of our own Latrice Baptiste, a partner in our National Public Finance group and tireless advocate for women and people of color in the legal profession.

Michael Battle

Barnes & Thornburg LLP
Partner
Litigation

J.D., University at Buffalo
B.A., Ithaca College

Criminal defense lawyer and civil litigator Michael Battle is focused on white collar criminal matters. Having previously served as a prosecutor and judge himself, Michael understands their perspectives and designs compelling arguments that have the best chance of defending his clients and mitigating their exposure to prosecution.

After leaving public service for private practice, Michael has counseled numerous clients on cases involving the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), healthcare fraud, the False Claims Act (FCA) and disadvantaged business regulatory violations, among others. A proven advocate with keen instinct for effectual negotiation, Michael has defended businesses and individuals faced with high-stakes investigations and claims by drawing upon his broad and multi-dimensional understanding of how government agencies prioritize policy and enforcement objectives.

Always prepared, diligent, calm, cool and collected, Michael is a proven communicator with a honed ability to observe and synthesize what is going on around him, as well as how to identify and create advantage as a result of that skill.

Michael Douglass

Wilson Elser Moskowitz Edelman & Dicker LLP
Partner
Litigation

J.D., Texas Southern University Thurgood Marshall School of Law
B.S., Jacksonville State University

Michael Douglass is an experienced trial attorney with a diverse civil litigation practice in California and Arizona state and federal courts. Michael focuses on the defense of corporate and municipal clients in complex, high-exposure general liability claims, as well as in professional, employment and municipal liability matters.

Michael defends several national long-haul and local trucking companies in catastrophic personal injury cases where he has responded to after-hours emergency calls regarding serious trucking accidents and directly managed the follow-up pre-litigation investigation, evidence preservation and risk assessment processes. Michael also is a proponent and frequent user of mediation and informal settlement negotiations with opposing counsel as a means to reduce clients' litigation costs.

Prior to joining the firm in 2005, Michael was in-house managing attorney for the San Francisco and San Jose staff counsel offices of Fireman's Fund Insurance Company. He participates in various diversity initiatives at the firm and in the business community, most recently serving on the planning committee for Defense Research Institute's annual diversity conference.

Tejas Shah

Barnes & Thornburg LLP
Partner
Employment Law

J.D., The George Washington National Law School
B.A., Duke University

Tejas Shah has the ability to take the complex and confusing nature of immigration law and simplify it for his clients. His goal is to not only help them comply with the multifaceted requirements of U.S. immigration law, but also to ensure that as clients source global talent, they thrive in environments that can be hostile to migration.

In addition, Tejas maintains a healthy individual immigration practice. He works with investors, scientists, researchers, and artists on immigration strategies and represents individuals in family-based immigration and naturalization matters, including clients in deportation proceedings, in the U visa application process, and litigation in the federal courts.

Tejas also maintains a pro bono practice assisting individuals and families through the National Immigrant Justice Center and Chicago Volunteer Legal Services.
